Dear Dr. Demerec:

There was no indication of any kind in the proof or correspondence concerning my manuscript that there was to be a plate. That is why no allowance was made for it in my check for the reprints.

The first I knew of the existence of a plate was when my proof of the figures arrived two days ago. I was not a little surprised, because you will remember that we discussed this question when I was at Cold Spring and agreed that it would be unnecessary to use special paper because there were no fine details of any importance to be brought out in the figures.

I am still of the same opinion. If, however, it is too late to do what was then agreed upon, as I presume it is, then there is nothing to do but to fork over the additional $8.75. I am naturally not anxious to do this, but am enclosing the check in case it is too late to alter the plan. If you find the original plan can be followed without too much trouble, I shall naturally be glad to have the check returned.

With best wishes,

Yours,

T.M. Sonneborn
